Town looks at toilets

By Frank Ryan

The town is looking at porta-toilets for the Centennial Civic Arena.

The toilets are part of a $50,000 expenditure which was authorized by council last Thursday.

Part of the expense includes a new public address system and clearance to fix the park boards in time for next winter.

The cost will be split by the town and the Drayton Valley Minor Hockey Association with each party using up half of their community recreation cultural grant.

Mayor Bob Mayhew suggested the town look at the porta toilets with the intent of installing them in time for the current season. Two of the dressing rooms and the referee's room are without proper toilets.

AGT was awarded a $10,965 contract to supply the PA system. Council pointed out that it wasn't the lowest bid, but they felt it was a higher quality system.

And, the park boards, which are proposed up in several places, will be repaired in time for next winter.

Council's decision to look at the toilet situation, the PA and the park boards came only days after minor hockey had sent a letter to the town asking what they had planned to do with the $49,240 grant money. All three items were of major concern to minor hockey.

Architect gives arena passing grade

By Frank Ryan

"There's no indication that it's dangerous. But, there's definitely some things that should be rectified," stated architect Larrrie Taylor when speaking to town council last Thursday on the 18-year-old sports facility. "Is it safe? Or will it blow over next week?" McGee asked.

"There's no place in the report that says the building is unsafe," Taylor added.

Councillor Tom McEwen pushed for a reply in light of all the talk over the conditions at the 18-year-old sports facility. "Is it safe? Or will it blow over next week?" McGee asked.

Veteran councillor Charlie Miner wasn't happy with the latest report on the arena and is certainly not happy with everything he's seeing, hearing and reading about the arena. "What I see and hear, it almost appears that it's a foregone conclusion that we need a new facility," Miner told council last week.

"The past two months the arena has been blown out of proportion," Miner added.

"The building has been labelled on current building codes. If you look at any arena in the province 10 to 15 years old...they'd all be condemned. I can't buy that," Miner said.

Taylor told Miner and council, "we didn't look at the arena with a view of condemning it. We look at upgrading it."

Some of the immediate problems at the 18-year-old structure that Taylor referred to in his report to council, included the absence of a sprinkler system, the axes are in poor condition and as a result the water has no way to get away from the building, lacks an air barrier, lacks proper wind bracing, there's some evidence of moving in the sign at the front of the building, the ventilation system should be upgraded, on the roof some of the seal is missing along with a number of screws and in general the roof is in poor repair.

While town council have had the main arena report for several weeks, they only received a cost estimate report the night before council. And, because of that, the arena report has been tabled until members of council have time to read the document.

Following the regular town council meeting last Thursday, Taylor took Mayor Bob Mayhew and members of council on a tour of the arena so they could see the problems first hand. And, as they have in the past, council refused to give a copy of any of the arena reports to The Western Review. The one arena report that was contained on last Thursday's council agenda was deleted from the papers file.

Minor blowout

A small blowout occurred at a Dome wall near Alder Plaza last week.

According to the ERCC, the sweet gas that surfaced during the "well kick" was burned off in a flare pit.

Local ERCC representative Jim Reid called the incident a "normal drilling occurrence." The well, about 18 miles southwest of Alder Plaza, is in the Red Deer jurisdiction of the ERCC.

Premier-designate Don Getty...so proud to be premier and leader.

Don Getty takes Tory leadership

EDMONTON - Chama of "Teamwork, Teamwork" filled the Agricom Sunday as new provincial PC leader Don Getty was presented to an audience of 4,000 people following a day of sign waving and balloting.

"It is my deep honor to present to you the leader of the Progressive Conservative Party of Alberta," Premier Peter Lougheed told the exuberant crowd.

Getty won the leadership race on the second ballot, with 1,061 votes out of a possible 1,838 counted during the second ballot. Opponent Julian Kozak, backed by Ron Gutter supporters, received 527 votes on the second ballot compared to 545 in the first round.

"What a tremendous honor it is to be your leader," said Getty. "I feel, of course, a heavy responsibility that goes with your support and trust. I want you to know that I will always try my very best to live up to that trust."

He described Albertans as "special people" in a special province, adding: "It will be so proud to be our leader and premier."

Mill hiring

By Frank Ryan

At Owen is hoping for two or three weeks of good weather.

Owen, owner of Pelican Spruce Mills who is directing the work force at Drayton Valley's $55 million oriented strandboard plant, needs that much time to complete the earth work. Machinery worked throughout the long weekend in an all out effort to get the site ready for the arrival of steel on Oct. 21.

Just as soon as the steel arrives from Canada and U.S. plants, work will start on the main building. Construction of the 720 by 300 foot main building is expected to take three months.

The announcement of the new plant has caused quite a stir.

"Lots of guys have been arriving on the site. We hired 12 guys last Wednesday," Owen says.

The plant, to be known as Studi-Wood, plans to hire locally. Owen says some specific jobs will be offered to staff at his Edson operation. But, he has no idea at this time just how many people will come to Drayton Valley.

Owen told the official and turning just 10 days ago that 300 to 400 people would be on the payroll. "That's already been blown out of proportion," Owen says.

Concern over the official number of people and how many families would be involved was discussed at last week's County of Parkland education meeting. The county is very concerned about the numbers as three Drayton Valley schools are already busting at the seams.

M.A. Shibley Cripps, a key figure in bringing the plant to Drayton Valley has already had calls on the forest management area the plant will utilize. "I've had a number of calls from people in the Alder Plate area and I want them to know Studi-Wood will be taking wood from the O'Chiese Block, which is located south of the Brazzard dam. Rene Creek is not one of them," Cripps says.

Use of the O'Chiese Block, the same area that Habin Pulp and Paper were scheduled to use in their proposed plan and, it was hoped, might also see some improvements to the Lodgepole highway.

County Councillor Henry Boudreau is urging Cripps to look at the highway. "Improvements to the highway between Drayton Valley and Lodgepole are on my priority list," the M.A. says. The Drayton Valley M.A. would like to see a passing lane on the highway which she says is highly rutted.

80th birthday

Good crowd for Vowk's party

By Edith Deby

Sincere, if belated, best wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ross and Shelley Janet who were married Aug. 28 in The Church of Jesus Christ. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken James, the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Ross.

Lytle and Cheryl Dressler welcomed their second daughter, Gaylean Jean, Oct. 1 in an Edmonton hospital. She is a sister for Dierdra, Erwin and Jean Dressler are proud grandparents and Elsie Dressler is the baby's great grandmother.

Darlene Broadbent was mistress of ceremonies when the 80th birthday party for William Rickavance and his cousin William Brownbill Chubb and Stan was held at Violet Grove Hall Oct. 8.

Leslie and Ted Tucker organized the potluck dinner for their old friends. Stan and Chubb came to Drayton Valley from (then) Powerhouse in 1941 at the age of six.

The farewell party for Roman and Dorothy Vowk held at Easyford Hall Oct. 5 was well attended. The potluck supper was enjoyed with John Porich presenting gifts on behalf of the Historical Society and the Easyford Community Centre. The Vowks have already settled in Calgary.

Pool committee

Need to raise funds for new rec complex

Mayor Bob Mayhew made it fairly clear at the recent Chamber of Commerce meeting that the town is not in a position to borrow money to meet people's needs.

The mayor outlined several projects which have come on stream in Drayton Valley in the past year, where debt service borrowing didn't figure into the cost. The mayor's reasoning is simple. He doesn't like paying the interest on the loans.

But, what did emerge at that meeting was talk of how town folks rallied to raise money and pay off a new indoor swimming pool.

The mayor told the chamber guests that it would take a million dollars to fix up the 18-year-old Centennial Civic Arena. No one at the meeting liked that idea.

However, the mayor left the door open for the community group that raised the swimming pool funds, to rally around the flag pole and come up with a plan of attack for a recreation complex. This complex could include a large ice rink, six-sheet curling rink, meetings rooms, etc.

A location to consider would be Lions Park, east of the fair grounds.

The mayor made it clear to the Chamber of Commerce that the town coffers don't have the money needed to meet people's demands. So, let's accept that, and call a meeting of interested individuals and groups who would give their all to a much needed community recreation centre. It was obvious from that chamber meeting that the people who sat on the pool funding committee are just waiting for the word to proceed.

Do we have a volunteer?

Council finally looks at arena toilets

After months of complaining about the absence of washroom facilities in the Centennial Civic Arena, we're glad to report council is looking at the cost. Mayor Bob Mayhew has instructed administration to look at porta-toilets with the intent of getting them installed.

If you haven't been following this issue, two of the dressing rooms in the sports facility don't have washrooms or showers. That's also the case in the referee's room.

The news of the $56 million Studi Wood plant is tremendous news for the town. Everyone connected with this project is to be commended.

We're looking forward to touring Pelican Spruce Mills' operation at Edson in the months ahead with an eye to seeing what's ahead for us.

Editor's Notes

We're very excited about Mike Moller's chances with the Edmonton Oilers. The former captain of the Red Deer Optimist, midgest 'A' Chiefs is an outstanding individual. We've followed Mike's career and feel he will get a better chance with the Oilers after a couple of frustrating campaigns with Buffalo. Brother Randy is a defenceman with Quebec.

We have a couple of new faces here at

The Western Review that we'd officially like to welcome.

Ray Lainchbury, a work experience student at the paper last year is our full-time darkroom technician. He will also be taking some photos, doing some reporting and assisting with the make-up of the paper. He just graduated from Frank Maddock High.

Marion Unterschultz is our new part-time receptionist. Her husband is the new vice-principal at FMHS.

The unfortunate earthquake in Mexico caused some anxious moments for Joe MacLellan, executive director of the Pembina Education Consortium, as his sister works at the Canadian Embassy in Mexico City. We're glad to report she wasn't hurt.

Dawkins' letter neglected implementary procedures

Dear Editor,

Mr. Cecil Dawkins, one of Drayton Valley's school board trustees, wrote a lovely article for your Sept. 18 edition of the paper, explaining the positive aspects of parent advisory groups and the community school concept.

While there is no question that these concepts would be a positive step for our schools, Mr. Dawkins neglected to tell us how they can be implemented in our community.

The parent advisory groups that now exist in the two elementary schools and the junior high school were not initiated by the schools themselves, but by a group of parents frustrated by the lack of communication, who organized to put pressure on the schools to form these committees.

Is Mr. Dawkins telling us that the school board is now ready to take a more active part in opening up communication between the school system and the community? Will he and our other trustee (what was her name?) finally hold a meeting with the ratepayers of our community in order to become familiar with our concerns and opinions about our schools? Is the school board, which presently meets the majority of the time in Stony Plain, during the day, planning to become more accessible to the parents, teachers and principals in our end of the county?

I hope that Mr. Dawkins and Vi Helm the other trustee will choose to become more responsible to the people who elected them, and will work with us to make our schools truly a part of the community.

Sincerely,
Marti McKinley

Local UNICEF needs help

Dear Editor,

UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) needs help.

Firstly, our committee would like two or three more adults to volunteer as organizers and co-ordinators of our fund (no experience is needed).

Secondly, we need children to canvass their block. Each child will only do his/her own block, so this is a safe, easy way to help. Volunteers should phone Peggy Tyler, 542-2190 evenings.

During the recent disaster in Mexico, our radio stations have been asking us to give our funds to reputable relief agencies. One of those named agencies is UNICEF.

So little does so much. Last year we raised more than $500 and it was 30°. One dollar will buy enough Vitamin A for 30 children to prevent blindness.

We helped more than 1,500 children to retain their sight last year and we did so little really. As you can see, so little does so much.

Please help this worthwhile humanitarian organization.

Peggy Tyler

Key for students' potential found

Victoria Lavers and Verna Brophy believe that a student's potential for success is tied closely to his or her self-concept.

These two teachers from Leduc Junior High School have received a $1,000 grant from the ATA Educational Trust for their project entitled Enhancing Student Excellence Through Understanding and Acknowledgement. Brophy is a counsellor at the school and Lavers teaches Grade 7 special education and Grade 8 language arts.

The project has three main components. The first is a series of mini lessons which, according to the submission from Lavers and Brophy, "will be used in our classes to reinforce the idea that excellence is a personal goal that can be achieved by anyone irrespective of their beliefs, by following some specific guidelines."

The second component involves the development of materials that will be used to reward students for scholastic achievement, participation, attitudes, efforts and contributions to the school and their class. These materials could take the form of awards, certificates, posters, bulletin board displays, cards, coupons, bookmarks, stickers, notepads, letters or telegrams.

Finally, the pair is planning a weekend conference for their students on the topic of excellence. The conference will include sessions on topics such as goal setting, nutrition, appearance, self-esteem and visualizing for success.

Lavers and Brophy will each be attending a conference dealing with personal growth and self concept in order to, according to Lavers, "build on the readings that we've done and learn some new techniques for dealing with children in a way that is good for their self-concept."

The ATA Educational Trust originated in 1977 with a bequest of approximately $13,700 from the estate of Frederick William Powell. The three main objects of the trust are to encourage and fund research into teaching methods and philosophies, teacher recruitment and working conditions; to provide scholarships and grants to help worthy candidates advance their knowledge of teaching and teaching skills; and to fund projects to promote public knowledge of and interest in education and matters related to education.

SCHOOL NOTEBOOK

Students at the H.W. Pickup Junior High School are busy with their annual magazine campaign which runs until Oct. 18. The campaign, which is the school's major fund raiser, realized a $5,000 profit for the school last year. Residents can either take out a new subscription or a renewal.

Tickets are currently being sold by the students at H.W. Pickup on a winter scene painting by Mrs. Hansen. Proceeds will go to the school's Foster Child program. The school contributes $276 annually to this program.

The hot soup program for students who stay for lunch at Elementary B is scheduled to start Oct. 21. For twenty-five cents students will receive 175 ml of soup and two single crackers.

Parent volunteers are needed for this program. If you can help please call the school.

A fluoride rinse program will be offered in all the students at Eldorado school this term. Other components of this program include dental health education, oral inspection, the referrals where dental work is recommended. The program is scheduled to begin Oct. 23.

Volunteer parents are needed to clean up the school once a week at 8:30 a.m.-10 a.m. day for about 30 minutes to assist in preparation of the room. Volunteer helpers will not be required until Oct. 30. If you can help please call the school.

A teachers institute will be held Oct. 29, which means a day off for students at Eldorado.

Warren Hansen received his training at the University of Victoria and achieved his bachelor of education.

Over 90 finish Turkey Trot

Tom Fortier came up the big winner in the second annual Turkey Trot at Frank McDock High School.

Fortier came across the finish line first in the four kilometre event in addition to having his name drawn for the year's pass to the pool. Fortier crossed the finish line in 15 minutes and 57 seconds to edge Chad Anker for the first-place title. Colin Poulin took third in the boys event.

For the girls the winner was Deanna Shuchinski, beating out Tracey Uzelman and Marcy Groulx. The top female runner was Terry Hills while Les Sigal took the top male crown.

All 90 of the finishers were eligible for the draw prizes with Senteel Tucker winning the turkey, Bob Elliot won the pair of running shoes from Rick's Sporting Goods.

Organizer Rick Watrich was happy with the turnout for the event and was "pleased" with the good weather. He commended the staff and students for their excellent support and is looking forward to the third annual race next year.

Crosswinds Travel, Rick's Sporting Goods, the FMHS Students Union and The Western Review sponsored the event.

Excellent job

Experts praise lifeguards efforts

The staff at Drayton Valley's Park Valley Indoor Swimming Pool have been singled out for their quick actions involving the life of Lance Nelson.

Boulters win annual tourney

Dave and Betty Boulter shot a 72.5 low net average to win the annual couples tournament at the Drayton Valley golf course on September 29.

Kevin and Ann Boulter were runners-up with a low net of 71. Orville and Ann Carl finished third with a 75.

Low gross went to Stacey Hasselhardt and Cindy Vuk with a 94 with Harold and June Hasselhardt finishing second with a 104. Ed and Laurene Chymyz took third with a 107.

Kelly and Connie Trower took the prize for being closest to the hole on number 8 while Kevin and Ann Boulter took the prize for being closest on number 2. The club would also like to thank IGA for sponsoring the trophy.

Royal Lifesaving experts visited the pool last week to investigate the Sept. 18 incident when Nelson had the wind knocked out of him after coming off the slide.

It is the opinion of the Royal Lifesaving experts that the guards did an excellent job. Debbie Bragley responded extremely well, according to pool manager Christine Jenkins. She got to him quick and did the correct treatment.

Jenkins adds: "Nelson was part of a Grade 3 Eldorado Elementary School swim program at the pool."

County of Parkland

Site of all terrain course

The County of Parkland may become the first jurisdiction in Canada to develop an All Terrain Vehicle riding instruction and safety course.

Lloyd Stephaniuk of the Alberta Safety Council recently told instructors of the county's motorcycle training programs they should "think quick and act fast" in developing similar programs for ATVs.

If such programs aren't offered soon, public pressure may prompt the provincial government to "shut ATVs down," he said.

The Alberta Safety Council will use the County of Parkland's pilot course as the basis for approaching the Lottery Foundation for funds to run the courses in "centres" throughout the province.

Approaches to the Lottery Foundation with requests to fund the county's course "from start to finish" will begin as soon as the county decides what form its program will take, Stephaniuk said.

Carl Enright, chief instructor for the motor cycle training program, said the proposal to develop an ATV course evolved partly as a result of the number of accident victims being admitted to the Stoney Plain Municipal Hospital as a result of improper use of ATVs.

Nonetheless, the police require a need to educate riders on the proper use of their vehicles and to encourage a more responsible attitude toward their machines.

Congratulations to the following newly recruited certified scuba divers: Debbie Rigley, Bonnie Macleod, Arlene Clark, Doris Clark, Brent Innes, Perry May, Jim Cox, Ken Simen, Murray Hauliska, Dena Boulter, Kim Tragton, Charlene Jenkins.

I finally let myself be talked into taking this class, and had a tremendous time. Scuba diving really is an adventure that everyone should experience. In my next column I'll let you know how our open water training in Jasper was. They say the wet suits will keep you warm and relatively dry, but I'm not so sure they can withstand sub-zero weather.

The Scuba Stretch class and the staff at Park Valley Pool are really missing their favorite swimmer, Arlene Duckett is recovering in the Drayton Valley hospital after a recent illness. We hope she and Fred are back really soon.

Amazons and Warriors both lose out

The two Drayton Valley high school volleyball squads didn't fare well in action on the weekend.

The Amazons travelled to Evansburg to compete in a eight team girls tournament but lost out in the semi-finals to Strathmore 15-4 and 16-14. Earlier they had lost to Evansburg and then beat Onaway and Jager.

Strathmore won the tournament over Evansburg with scores of 7-15, 15-5 and 15-10. Evansburg had gone undefeated in the tournament.

The Warriors had similar problems in a tournament at Grant MacEwan Community College in Edmonton. They won two out of 10 round robin games and in the two consolation playoffs were beat two games straight by Camille J Le Rouge from Red Deer. In total 24 teams participated in the two day tournament. Both teams see action next weekend in a tournament in Edson.

Curtola headlines first show of season for group

Bobby Curtola will be appearing in Drayton Valley on November 2 at the Rec-Plex Gym at 8 p.m.

Curtola's "Las Vegas style" performance is just one of four entertainment venues being brought to town by Drayton Valley Presents.

Curtola, the first Canadian credited with a gold album, will have a "hit show" including a band and dancers, according to Mary Poloway, president of DV Presents.

"It is going to be the biggest financially of the shows the group has brought to the area recently," said Poloway. The eight year old organization has had everything from dancing to plays to orchestras come to perform.

The group will be selling season tickets for $30 a piece which entitles the holder to three other performances during the year. On January 31 the Calgary Fiddlers, a group of 16 violinists will be appearing. Then an operetta comedy "Daughter of Regiment" will be performed on February 14 with the final show coming on February 27 from the Toronto based orchestra Quintessence.

Single tickets for the Curtola performance are available at $7.50 and the 2 & 3 W concessionary for $10 each. Tickets can also be bought from Jeanette Vetter, Dot Woods, Betty McGee, Carol Hoyland, Nancy Jacobs, Lee Ristetter, Rita Janakowski, Mary Poloway and Audrey Small.

Goat club meeting held Oct. 7

The regular monthly meeting of the Capra Valley Goat Club was held Oct. 7 at the home of Edna Horkley in Violet Grove.

A car pool of goat club members will attend the annual general meeting of the Alberta Goat Breeders Association in Red Deer Nov. 2. Anyone wishing to come should contact Edna Horkley at 542-5501.

AGRA director Joanne Bringer is organising a one-day milk test to be held in Harwell in May. Grade goats must be recorded and tattooed before the test date.

There is a lot of interest in having a goat show in Drayton Valley in 1986. Joanne Schadek has been delegated to discuss the matter with the Agricultural Society.

Laurel Langford gave her first goat show in September at Thorhild and placed third for her grade Alpine Wapiti. Sheax David Langford placed first and Michael Langford was second in junior showmanship.

Congratulations to Laurel Langford for making her first appearance in goat show results in the AGRA publication Slant.

The next meeting of the Capra Valley Goat Club will be held at the home of Joan Libbrick of Moose Lake Nov. 4.

Residents of Lone Pine are mad that their post office has been closed. The sudden closure of the post office means some people have to travel up to 62 miles to Port Arvillan for their mail.

TOWN DEMANDS MEETING

The Town of Sylvan Lake is demanding a meeting with the Energy Resources Conservation Board (ERCB) to complain about a breach of licensing procedure for an oil well to be drilled at the town's east boundary. The town is upset because the ERCB apparently granted a drilling licence in APL Oil and Gas before council had given its approval.

COUNCIL WAIVES ARENA FEES

Spruce Grove town council has waived the rental fees for a hansom international hockey tournament Dec. 27-31. Because it is an international event council waived the $4,000 rental fees.

FIRST PRIZE COMPLETED

The Wetaskiwin Chamber of Commerce has completed the first phase of their rampground located one mile east of the city on Highway 12. NATIONAL UNIVERSITIES WEEK

OCTOBER 19 THROUGH 27

Alberta's Universities ... Extending Ideas to You!

Campuses at Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge, and Athabasca University's home study program offer a choice of degrees in all fields of study.

Whether you're interested in developing your career opportunities, learning about a particular skill or technique, or you just want to know the answers to the many intriguing questions about our world, faculty at Alberta's four universities are ready to extend new ideas to you.

Universities make an important contribution to your community and all of society. You can too. Make the connection with the university of your choice.

EXTENDING IDEAS INTO YOUR COMMUNITY.

In last week's newsletter I reported some points to consider before deciding whether or not to invest in a south-facing stove for your home. Do you remember that yes, you do pay to purchase a south-facing stove, the big question becomes: Wharf of the hundreds of stoves on the market today is right for you?

The trick to answering this question is to break your decision-making process down into a series of steps. With each step, more stoves will be eliminated. In the end of the process, only a few will be left. The steps to take are consideration for 1. SIZE: If a stove of the right size to heat the area you want heated (usually an average stove, you'll have to run it at a very low rate, and recall will be a dirty inefficient fire. If your stove is too small, you'll have to run it very hot and will find yourself making it every hour or two. 2. QUALITY: Although there is no best material for a stove, cast iron generally lasts the longest but is the most expensive. More important than the type of material is the quality of it and the way it is put together (good cast iron, for example, will be smooth well finished and thick. Steel plate should be at least 1/8 inch thick. Steel metal is

May but probably won't last as long as other materials.

Another good indicator of quality is weight. A heavy stove will have thick, sturdy walls and possibly a firebrick lining or interior baffles. As well, smoothly operating and tight fitting doors and valves are indicators of good quality.

Check the air dampers (front or side of stove) and the flue damper (back of stove). The air dampers should have gradual opening and closing and the flue damper which controls the rate the fire burns, can be closed properly.

3. SAFETY: The surest sign that a stove is safe is a label on the stove stating that a box has been tested for safety by a recognized test lab. 4. EFFICIENCY: Some of the stoves have catalytic converters to provide maximum efficiency.

The Western Review, Drayton Valley, Alta., October 16, 1986, Page B3

ry. They allow the gases and liquids to exit at a lower temperature, thus allowing more heat to get into your home per log. As well, exhaust production is reduced by as much as 90 per cent. You can expect to pay more when this feature is included. 5. TV LVLs: This is a personal preference, do you don't? After about your tastes and desire of your room. Some stoves allow you to leave the doors open while the fire is burning while others don't. 6. CONVENIENCE: Once you've surveyed your choices down to safe, efficient, reasonably sized wood stoves that suit your eye, start looking for convenience features. How easy is the stove to load? How big a log will it take? Ash disposal is another area to check. If you have a shovel the ashes out it can become inconvenient and messy.

Finally, if you want to cook on your stove, look for a design with a cook surface on top.

7. PRICE: Wood stoves aren't cheap. Even the smallest well made stove will cost $400 and up. It will probably pay to shop around for your best price. Just a few years ago, wood stoves were in very short supply and bargains were hard to find. That's no longer the case. Today the market is saturated and the wise consumer will probably find that bargains are easier to find.

Visitor registrations up

The Evergreen Tourist Association reports an eight per cent increase in visitor registrations this season.

From his office at Ed Woodhouse and manager of the 10 booths in the zone had said in their survey stated in but it was beginning to look like about an eight per cent hike over last year.

This week we are going to take a quick look at all of the financial programs available in this area.

For starters we are on the last legs of our grasshopper program. It is over and done in November so don't do it. This program covers 20 per cent of the cost of field chemicals sprayed on grasshoppers last summer.

Next we have the fertilizer program. Many of you have already claimed it for 1985. This program also covers 1986 at least until summer.

The Feed Grain Market Adjustment Program is also underway. I won't go into detail because some of it read my last columns. Just remember to register. If you put this program off until later you may miss out.

One of our newest programs is the Through Assistance Program. This again was not a led last week in this column. This is available to free lands in Zone II. There is $30 for female livestock owned on Sept. 1 1985. And another $15 is available if you still own these animals as of Sept. 1 1986.

Finally for the equalize free 60% of Zone I.

The D.A. Column

There is the very popular Feed Free 80% Assistance Program.

There is another program you should know about that can mean more dollars to your farm than all the programs listed above.

Some of you have already started on the Financial Management Indenture Program and don't know it. This is a three-part program aimed at our better farm operators. If the word "rent" does not mean to you, help, but this program is for the farmer that has a plot of it still "rent" here in the next few years.

Part one of the program is a detailed consulting session. Free for the asking, farmers have the opportunity to spend a day or more with a highly qualified farm consultant. Between the two the entire operation is analyzed, and the farmer has the benefit of the experience and knowledge of the consultant. These farmers, in the area that have already taken part are really satisfied. The information is confidential, too.

Part two is an in-depth course in Farm Business Management. Not only does this include about 12 days of workshop and instruction but also the instructor and extension staff are prepared to spend several days helping what is taught specifically to the farmer's own operation.

In fact each participant will work with his own operation through the entire course.

The last two is the limited number of people who have taken this course. This district can take a total of about six couples for this course in 1985-86. Two couples have already registered. If you are interested, call me right away.

Part Five of the program is assistance in record keeping. They are from government and prepared to help farmers, particularly those not keeping in parts one and two, to set up and maintain some form of record system.

Once again these programs are back free and very profitable! For information please give me a call.

New twist for festival

By Candace Bjorge
Regional 4-H Specialist, Banffhead

4-H Communication Festival is for adults too! This year a new twist will be added to the traditional program. In the past Communication Festival was an event where senior 4-H members went to learn about planning and presenting demonstration, developing speaking and listening abilities and having it all rolled up in a fun, relaxed atmosphere.

None of this has changed. Although now 4-H adults will be learning too! Both riders and members can work together to develop their skills in self-expression. Special sessions of the weekend will be devoted to adults where activities which emphasize developing communication skills gradually will be highlighted. Adults will learn to be more effective at home with their children by gaining knowledge and confidence in both communication skills themselves and how to teach them.

Buses are provided to transport 4-H members and leaders to Camp Mackenzie on Pigeon Lake where the event takes place. Registration is $4 on Friday, Oct. 25 and wrapping up on Sunday after noon Oct. 27, the event promises to be enjoyable and rewarding for everyone.

Class of 1985 bids farewell to school days

By Shell Carson

The Breton High School grade 12 class of 1985 bid farewell to their school and their high school days at the ceremony at the Breton Community Centre on September 7.

Some 200 guests were treated to a banquet catered by Mrs. Lund and served by the Grade 10 and 11 students. Following the blessing by Pastor L. Alex and a toast to the Queen by Mr. Wynnyk, the guests were treated to a turkey dinner.

Master of ceremonies Lyle Dalton directed the activities by calling on Mayor Glen Lee for a toast to the grads and a reply by graduate Cindy Ekstrom.

Class Foreman expressed the class appreciation to the toast to the teachers and Mr. Peterson replied on behalf of the staff. Recognizing the part played by the parents, Vincent Strand proposed a toast to the parents. Barbara Stevenson acknowledged the expression of gratitude. The ceremony then moved to the high school

★ FAVE ★

FROM PAGE 1 ABC has big plans for Shirley MacLaine's Out on a Limb, which it describes as a controversial, best-selling recounting of her courageous quest for self-discovery.

Birley MacLaine

Translated that means the book's contents are a bit bizarre. Miss MacLaine is a firm believer in reincarnation and Out on a Limb is an account of her past lives. Some wags have even suggested that it might more aptly be titled Around the Bend.

The television adaptation is being planned as a five-hour multipart presentation and Miss MacLaine—who better?—will play herself. Miss MacLaine is also going to write the screenplay (along with Colin Higgins).

Jack Klugman

LOOK FAMILIAR? A few familiar faces will be returning to the small screen when the new fall shows, which were ballyhooed so enthusiastically a month or so back, start to bite the dust.

CBS, of course, is preparing a new Mary Tyler Moore.

Klugman's new show will be based on the British hit "Home to Roost." Klugman will play a divorced man who's forced to renew his relationship with his son after they've been separated for many
